GUEST SPEAKER(S)

PROFESSOR JOHN T. RAGO, J.D BODY CAMERAS

Mr. Rago is an Associate Professor of Law. He works in the area of criminal justice and focuses on wrongful convictions. This focus is within a very broad context of collaborative policy-making and the establishment of science-based best practices for law enforcement and prosecutors.

Mr. Rago chairs a 51-member statewide committee which is formed by the Pennsylvania State Senate. This committee studies wrongful convictions under the auspices of the Joint State Government Commission. He has also served on the Innocence Project's Northeast Policy Board and the Governor's Advisory Board of Probation.

Mr. Rago discussed body cameras for law enforcement officials. Police departments in two of the largest cities in Pennsylvania have started using body cameras. There are a lot of unanswered questions regarding the use of body cameras such as: funding; annual maintenance cost; required data storage; operations procedures; controlling tapes to be used for evidence; right to know requests; and training for police officers.

ACBA MEETING ▪ NOVEMBER 16, 2015

At this time law enforcement are not mandated to wear body cameras however Representative Thaddeus Kirkland, D-Delaware has introduced a bill that would require all law enforcement officers in Pennsylvania to wear body cameras.

One of the most dangerous situations for an officer is responding to house calls because no officers knows what is awaiting them on the other side and the bill that has been introduced must address the Pennsylvania's Wire Tap law. This law prevents officers from recording audio inside of homes without a court order. It also requires the police officer to inform everyone who is being recorded. Senator Stewart Greenleaf has introduced Senate Bill 976 which has been unanimously voted on by the Senate Judiciary Committee on October 27th. This bill will amend the requirements of the Wire Tap law and allow officers to enter private homes with an activated body camera. This bill also clarifies that officers may record interviews with suspects or witnesses inside police facilities and it addresses public record requests. As it stands now the bill will ban footage from such requests.

At this time it is not mandatory for law enforcement agencies to provide body cameras to their officers. Body cameras may not be for every agencies at this time but if an agencies decides to have body cameras as part of their uniform then it is imperative that very detailed and strict policies and procedures are put into place by such agencies.
